IIMSAM - GADARA INITIATIVE HONORS THE
"WORKERS OF THE HOMELAND" IN JORDAN ON LABOR DAY.

H.E. Dr. Faraj Al-Omari, IIMSAM Goodwill Ambassador in Jordan and founder of the initiative, the IIMSAM- Gadara initiative honored the "workers of the homeland" in Jordan to recognize their significant role in serving the Kingdom of Jordan. The workers of the homeland in Jordan are the labor workers who clean the streets and other things. The honor included about 100 workers, each of whom was given a $100 purchase voucher.

The initiative also organized a second campaign to honor these workers by distributing food parcels to about 100 other workers.

The honor was held in the capital, Amman, in His Excellency Dr. Farej Omari, IIMSAM Goodwill Ambassador and founder of the initiative, and the family of the radio program "Wasat Al-Balad" on "Radio Fan" and its presenter Dr. Hani Al-Badri.

DID YOU KNOW ?

Labour Day has its origins in the labour union movement, specifically the eight-hour day movement, which advocated eight hours for work, eight hours for recreation, and eight hours for rest. For most countries, Labour Day is synonymous with, or linked with, International Workers' Day, which occurs on 1 May.
